Bodies Of Mother, Child Discovered

Cops Hold Husband In Brutal Slaying Of Wife, Daughter

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP)—Police Friday night held Philip Van Eeghen for investigation in the slaying of his wife and daughter whose slashed and beaten bodies were found in front of a funeral home early Friday.

Police Chief John Thomas said the 30-year-old laundry operator was questioned 11 hours, then officers called off further interrogation until Saturday. No charge has been filed.

The bodies were found in a parked car about 6:30 a.m., after Van Eeghen had telephoned police his wife Patricia, 32, and 7-year-old daughter Phyllis were missing. Van Eeghen, operator of Van's Laundry, said they were at home when he went to bed Thursday night and they were missing when he awoke.

The mother was found covered with a blanket on the front seat of the family convertible, her head and feet touching the floor. The child's body was in the trunk from which blood was dripping.

Sandy Area
Thomas said fresh blood was found in a sandy area adjacent to the laundry which is owned by Van Eeghen's mother, Mrs. Teddy Van Eeghen, a widow.

Thomas said Mrs. Van Eeghen apparently was struck from behind and fell on her face. Her body and that of her daughter were covered with sand and sand spurs, a barbed weed that sticks to flesh and clothing.

The chief said the two evidently were slain near the laundry, placed in the car and driven to the spot in front of the Brownlie Funeral Home which is only a short distance from the Van Eeghen residence. There was no sign of a struggle at the Van Eeghen home.

Police determined that the car was parked in front of the funeral home as early as 2 a.m. because the municipally owned street sweeper made the rounds at that time and had to skirt the automobile.

Mrs. Van Eeghen, an employee of the Independent Life Insurance Co. at Cocoa 20 miles north of here, was fully dressed but one shoe was missing. In the other was two nickels. Phyllis was dressed for school. She was in the second grade.

Police said Van Eeghen "went completely to pieces" when told of the tragedy and was placed under a physician's care in Brevard Hospital.

Later he was taken from the hospital to city hall for questioning.

Iowa Collision Takes 4 Lives

GUTHRIE CENTER, Ia. (AP)—Four persons were killed and two were injured in a two-car crash on Highway 64 about 4 miles west of here late Friday.

Sheriff J. C. McCool identified the dead as:

John Vincent Kerwin, 42, of Audubon and formerly of Wota.

Victor C. Borkowski, 43, Audubon.

Delton Christensen, 36, Guthrie Center.

Mrs. Eileen Hansen, 32, Marshalltown.

McCool said a car driven by Kerwin, and carrying the other two men, attempted to pass another car, went out of control and then skidded into the path of one being driven by Clyde Morris Hansen, 40, Marshalltown.

With Hansen were his wife and a son, Donald, 5.

Hansen and his son were hospitalized with cuts and bruises. Donald also had a broken arm. Injuries of both were not believed to be serious.

The sheriff said the accident occurred on a slight curve.

Benson Wants New Pig Crop Curbed Voluntarily

Repeats He's Not Quitting Cabinet

THURMONT, Md. (AP)

The Eisenhower administration made a two-fold attempt Friday to cope with sagging farm prices and the resultant criticism of Republican agricultural policies.

A lengthy Cabinet session in the snow-covered Catocin Mountains closed ranks around Secretary of Agriculture Benson and brought plans for an election-year farm program close to completion.

Simultaneously, Benson called on farmers for voluntary curbs on pig production. In a statement released from his office in Washington, he said "if producers hold down the number of spring pigs raised in 1956, their market position will be strengthened when these pigs are marketed next year."

Blask, Cold Day

Benson, emerging from the Cabinet session in rustic Laurel Lodge in the bleak December cold, once again knocked down reports he might leave the Cabinet.

And, asked about a proposal by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) for slaughtering hogs to aid pork producers, Benson replied: "Our hog program is working fine."

The government is engaged right now in an 85-million-dollar pork buying program to bolster the calls for premium prices to farmers who will market female hogs during a specified period, rather than breed them, to cut down the pork surplus.

No Talk of Premiums

Benson made no mention of such premiums in his call Friday for a voluntary reduction of the pig crop.

He said President Eisenhower will outline the farm program in detail in a special message to the January session of Congress after covering it broadly in his State-of-the-Union message.

Benson, for whose flexible price supports and other policies the President has given repeated backing, appeared vexed by a reporter's query as to whether anything came up at the Cabinet meeting on whether he would resign.

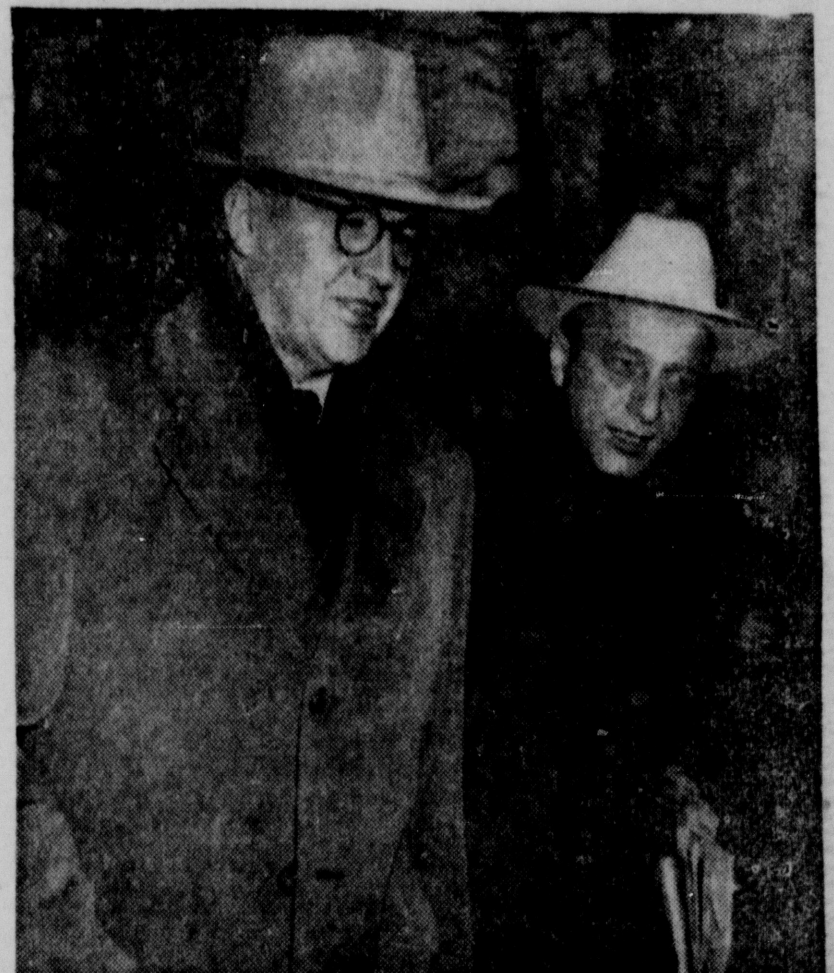

He opened the door of his limousine and almost shouted this reply: "Once again: I am not worrying about my tenure."

Snow fell continuously during the session, to which Eisenhower drove the 22 miles from his farm house at Gettysburg. But there was no snow on the highways as he came down from the mountains for the drive back home.

Nothing Final

Benson said the program was "not farmed up" Friday, that "nothing is final, as yet" but that the six-point program the President endorsed at Denver still stands and will be "broadened." The six-point program covers:

1. A stepped-up program of sur-

Henry Wallace Adds Warning On Hog Plan

SOUTH SALEM, N.Y. (AP)—A note of warning about the pitfalls of trying to cut down the nation's pig population came Friday from Henry A. Wallace, who tried it once.

That was when he was secretary of agriculture, back in 1933.

Commenting Friday on a proposal by Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) for a government pig-slaughtering program to aid producers, Wallace said it "is certain to be misrepresented."

Distortions about the 1933 plan, he said, still "are told to this very day."

plus disposal and expansion of exports.

2. A vigorous purchase program to remove market gluts caused by overproduction.

3. An enlarged program of soil conservation and incentive payments to divert crop land into grass, trees and forage.

4. An expansion of the rural development program for low income farm families.

5. A stepped-up program of research, emphasizing lower production costs, new uses for farm crops and market expansion.

6. Pushing the "Great Plains program" aimed at better use of the land with better balanced farming in these areas.

Asks Checks

NEW YORK (AP)—Alexander Bittelman, one of the U.S. Communist party's foremost theoreticians, asked Federal Court to get him his Social Security checks.

He claims his $88.10 monthly benefits have been blocked by the federal prison director, John J. Bennett.

On the other hand, Walter Chase of Pilger, large commercial hog producer, said of the plan, "The idea is fine but it probably won't work."

"We cut down 20 per cent this year and because of the decrease in the price of pork we are clear down in the cellar."

He said the plan would work if all raisers could be persuaded to cut down, but that he feels it is impractical to think they will.

Harry Knabe of Nehawka, another important producer, said he didn't know if the voluntary curb would have any effect.

Loeffel continued, "I think we will see quite a reduction in the number raised next year." He said the best help would be for commercial people to put "an extra slice of pork in each can of beans," and to point out to the consumer that because of the low price of pork right now it would be wise to stock up freezers.

NEBRASKANS SKEPTICAL OF PIG PLAN

Secretary of Agriculture Benson's suggestion that low pork prices could be bolstered by the voluntary reduction of hog production was greeted Friday with skepticism by Nebraska producers and officials.

"The first thing to be done is to cut down the number of pigs for next year. Any plan to help it happen has its good points," Guy McReynolds of Ashland, large purebred hog breeder, said.

"Who has the best plan is the question, though," he said. He did not believe the voluntary curb plan would have any effect.

"The best cure is the low price itself," he said. He explained that the low pork price will cause producers to cut down production next year.

"This idea was echoed by William Loeffel, chairman of the department of animal husbandry at the University of Nebraska."

"Most people were going to cut down production next year anyway," Loeffel said of Benson's plan.

"They will cut down because it is unprofitable now, especially in this state, where the corn crop was so short."

Loeffel continued, "I think we will see quite a reduction in the number raised next year." He said the best help would be for commercial people to put "an extra slice of pork in each can of beans," and to point out to the consumer that because of the low price of pork right now it would be wise to stock up freezers.

Derelict U.S. Jet Hits Hospital; 1 Dead, 5 Hurt

... Abandoned Plane Sets Off Fires

SHEFFIELD, England—A derelict U.S. jet fighter, abandoned by its pilot at 3,500 feet crashed beside the Lodge Moore Hospital near Sheffield Friday night and killed a woman patient. Five others were injured slightly.

Hot metal wreckage of the F-84F Republic Thunderbolt plowed across one of the wards. A fire started within the hospital, while outside a gas main was set alight and several small fires flared across the grounds.

Exploding, ammunition was an added hazard.

Transferred
Patients, including some of the injured, were quickly transferred to other wards of the hospital, a 467-bed institution for infectious diseases.

"The aircraft crashed into the hospital grounds and scattered itself across one of the wards," a fire brigade spokesman said. "One woman was killed. There was several minor injuries from broken glass from the smashed windows."

"When we arrived, parts of the aircraft were scattered about the grounds and ammunition was still exploding."

Didn't Hear It
The fires were soon brought under control.

Fred Bonington, who runs a pub nearby, said "we did not hear the plane" until it hit.

"It glided in with its engine off after the pilot bailed out," he said.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman at Sculthorpe, in Norfolk, said the pilot landed uninjured.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman declared there had been no ammunition in the plane.

The Air Force identified the pilot as Lt. Roy G. Evans of Pulaski, Tenn., stationed at Sculthorpe air base.

Skating Open At Oak Creek Park

For the first time this year, the green light has been given by Park Superintendent James Ager for weekend ice skating at Oak Creek Park Lake.

But while the ice there is in excellent condition, the report is not so good on other spots. Both the Rogers Tract at 33rd and O and Rudge Memorial at 16th and Harrison are in a state of preparation and not ready for skaters.

All other areas are safe but skating is good only at Belmont and University Place.

Trailer Fire Kills 3 Brothers, Girl

WICHITA, Kan. (INS)—Three brothers, and the 15-year-old bride of one of them, burned to death Friday in their trailer home near Wichita.

Victims were Joseph A. Babbs, 22, his bride of two weeks, Betty Jean; Robert E. Babbs, 19, and Kenneth W. Babbs, 16.

Firemen said an oil stove in the trailer apparently exploded.

The boys' mother, Mrs. Evelyn Babbs, was hospitalized for shock when told of the tragedy. She lived in another trailer at a park nearby.

Illinois Mystery Solved By Confession

Bodies Of Pair Found In Wells

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A husky, 200-pound veteran of two wars Friday told of shooting to death an Illinois man and wife and dumping their bodies in separate water wells.

Authorities said they were placing more emphasis on the possibility that Fillmore Young, 34-year-old Carlyle, Ill., Negro, may have had an accomplice in the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith of nearby Lebanon, Ill.

Young, a poultry worker, is held without bond in the St. Clair County jail, charged with murder in two warrants. He led authorities to the wells where the bodies of Smith, a 30-year-old carpenter, and his wife, Arline, 35, were recovered.

Young, arrested Thursday night at his home, admitted the Nov. 27 double killing after two hours of questioning and later signed a written admission here.

Speaks Of "We"

Sheriff Leonard O. Reinhardt said that while under questioning Young frequently used the term "we" in referring to commission of the crime.

When pressed on this point, however, Young insisted he acted alone, officers said, and added: "I know I am going to die. Why should I drag someone else along with me?"

Two Illinois state officials said Young has refused to take a lie detector test.

Further strengthening the theory another person might have been involved, was a broken tooth found in the Smith's home, but which authorities said came from neither the Smiths nor Young.

All bullets taken from the bodies during autopsies appeared to be of .22 caliber and Young said he used a weapon of this caliber.

Young insisted he didn't know why he killed the couple, but authorities believe he isn't telling the full story.

Young, acquitted seven years ago of murdering his wife in a drowning incident, showed little emotion when recounting events of the fatal night.

Young Wife Hurt In 3-Car Crash

A 17-year-old wife suffered a broken bone in her left foot as a result of a three-car accident Friday afternoon on 17th St. just south of L.

Injured was Mrs. Bonnie Hebbard, 125 West O. She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Howard D. Hebbard, 21. The injured girl was treated and released from Lincoln General Hospital.

Marvin Shepard, 19, of 649 No. 27th, was coming out of an alley onto 17th when the accident occurred, according to police.

Shepard complained of injuries in his neck and shoulder after the accident.

Driver of the third car was Ivan L. Eins, 30, of Manitou Springs, Colo.

Tots Enjoy Southwest Program

If the reactions of the small fry in the "peanut gallery" mean anything, the Christmas program presented at the Southwest Community Center at 1145 High, was a huge success. These tots seem to be enjoying the red-rouged girls and impish boys performing for some 300 persons. Junior boys taking cooking lessons at the center passed cookies to the audience following the program. The program included dancing, animated singing of Christmas carols and a short play. Miss Gertrude Pile, director of the center, was mistress of ceremonies. Santa visited the youngsters following the program. (Star Staff Photo).

Special Team Will Survey Beatrice Home

The Board of Control Friday announced that a team of experts headed by State Mental Health Director Dr. Cecil Wittson will survey the Beatrice State Home. The institution was visited this week by a special study committee of the Legislative Council.

Dr. Wittson said the survey was intended to help the patients and had nothing to do with the operation of the home. He said the survey may require bringing in outside experts. He admitted that there are patients in the home who could benefit from a rehabilitation program and probably some who could be released under present laws.

Members of a special legislative committee after their visit to Beatrice this week talked freely on their individual views of present laws regarding the institution that might have to be changed. But they said, as a committee, they had reached no decisions.

The home now has 2,147 patients as compared with 1,647 in 1950.

Louis Jeppeson, chairman of the advisory committee for the home, said that the committee is making a careful survey of conditions and will have recommendations for both the Board and the Legislature.

Ease of admission and trouble in getting out are the chief objections to the institution operation. Many of these provisions are included in the law and beyond the control of the Board. Some senators argue that no law changes have been asked by the Board.

State Treasurer Transfers $17,502 From Board Fund

On instructions from the state tax commissioner and auditor, Treasurer Ralph Hill has transferred $17,502 from the Board of Control salary, wages and maintenance account to a similar account of the military department.

This was the amount expended by the National Guard in assisting the Penitentiary and Reformatory in restoring order following riots and fires at the two institutions.

Under the original plan when the National Guard was called into service by the governor, payment of their expenses was to have come from the governor's emergency fund. However, the tax commissioner held that the costs would have to be met from money appropriated to the Board of Control for maintenance of institutions.

—New Autos Damaged— Car Transport Smacked By Train; Driver Hurt

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A loaded Burlington freight train smashed into the trailer of an auto transport truck Friday afternoon at the Fairgrounds entrance crumpling three 1956 model autos and demolishing a fourth. The truck driver escaped with minor injuries.

The driver of the Mack's Transport Service truck, Jerome D. Kresl, 25, of Weston, suffered a small cut above the left eye. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The freight train, traveling about 30 miles an hour, according to the engineer, struck the auto transport truck near the left rear wheels and shoved the trailer into a concrete signal box station. The new car on the bottom rack in the rear of the truck was demolished.

Two other vehicles on the top rack were thrown from the transport to the ground on the west side of 17th near the tracks.

Heading Into Lincoln

The 35-car Burlington freight, No. 308 from Council Bluffs, was heading into Lincoln when the accident occurred on the south of the double set of tracks which are protected by automatic cross arms.

The train's engineer, H. W. Green 43, of Ralston, said he saw the transport when the train was about 100 feet east of the crossing. Green said he threw the train into emergency, but 15 cars of the train had passed the intersection before it stopped.

The engineer said the truck was traveling at about a 45 degree angle to the train when the engine struck the transport. Both arms protecting the crossing were down at the time.

The truck's driver, riding alone, said one freight had passed through the crossing and the signal arms had gone up before he started through.

Had Waited

He told Motorcycle Officer Ray Gillespie he had waited 15 minutes for the crossing to clear. His truck had cleared the north tracks just before the train hit.

The transport bed of the truck was swung about 90 degrees to the crossing and was wedged in against the control box which was moved off its foundation. A parkway cable connecting with automatic signals in the general area was broken with the impact.

The four 1956 model cars, three Plymouths and one Dodge, were destined for Mowbray Motors, Inc., in Lincoln. They had come from Detroit, Mich.

The transport truck was headed south on 17th when struck by the train.

Two witnesses to the accident, Robert VonBusch, 16, of 1526 So. 3rd, and Henry Gropp, 16, of 944 So. 2nd, said the signal arms protecting the intersection had gone up for the first freight that passed by and went back down again for the approaching train that hit the truck.

Graham Enters Innocent Plea In Plane Bombing

DENVER (INS)—John Gilbert Graham looked the judge straight in the eye Friday and pleaded innocent to charges he murdered his mother by exploding a bomb which also killed 43 other persons aboard an airliner.

Abandoning the hang-dog look which characterized earlier appearances in Denver District Court, the nattily-dressed Graham took a keen interest in the proceedings.

When asked by Judge Edward J. Keating how he pleads to a charge he murdered his heavily-insured mother in the time-bomb plot which blasted a United Air Lines mainliner out of the air on Nov. 1, Graham replied:

"Certainly not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity before, after and since the alleged commission of the act."

Judge Keating ordered Graham committed to the Colorado Psychopathic Hospital in Denver for observation not to exceed 30 days. The case was continued until Jan. 9.

Both East, West Berlin Make Menacing Moves

BERLIN (AP)—East and West Germany moved menacingly against each other Friday, the Communist East feinting with its police force and the West waving a diplomatic cudgel.

The East regime announced that as of nine days ago its frontier police have taken over from the Soviets the task of controlling the frontiers of the "German Democratic Republic," including Berlin.

Coldly Rebuffed

The Bonn Federal Republic coldly rebuffed East Germany's recent demands for recognition and went a step farther. The Foreign Office said that the Adenauer regime will break off diplomatic relations with any nation that does recognize the East Germans.

The Eastern move set the Western world wondering how it eventually would affect the isolated and surrounded city of Berlin and its Allied garrisons. On Sept. 20, Moscow and East Berlin reached an agreement to transfer border control from Russians to East Germans.

Admits Check Charge

William Arthur Kay, 23, from Atlanta, Ga., pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to a fraudulent check charge. Kay, who is stationed at the Lincoln AFB, was charged with issuing a $60 no-account check on Nov. 26 to a Lincoln store. Judge Paul White deferred further proceedings pending a pre-sentence investigation report by the adult probation officer.

Meet Star Carrier Bob Cunningham

Robert Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cunningham of 3188 Puritan, finds his experience as a carrier salesman on Rt. 752 very beneficial to him now and also for preparing him for his life work.

Cunningham

Robert is 13 years old and is in the eighth grade at Irving School. His favorite subjects in school are art and mechanical drafting, which he feels will help him in the future as an engineer. His route profits of $22 per period go into his savings account.

Basketball is his favorite sport, and he is best used as a utility player, apt at any position on the team. He is a first class Boy Scout in Troop 19, and enjoys the outdoor life of scouting.

Robert has learned, in the short time he has been on his route, that the knowledge he gains on a paper route will be valuable to him in his future life work. His excellent service record and aggressive manner of handling his business shows him to be an apt and reliable businessman with his future in sight.

Any boy wanting a morning Star route should apply at the Star circulation department, 926 P, Lincoln, Neb.

Basis Of Objection

There is every reason to believe that Nebraska's commissioner of education, Freeman Decker, was speaking for the majority of Nebraskans when he said this state was opposed to federal aid for education.

And Mr. Decker was on equally solid ground when he suggested that in all likelihood we would tilt our nose upward if it should happen that federal funds came our way.

Though Mr. Decker did not say so, that just happens to be one of our favorite little hypocrisies. Throughout the New Deal, Nebraska was highly critical of some of the aid programs and yet we were back in Washington, hands outstretched, seeking funds whenever money was to be had. We wanted our share—all we could get.

Britain Takes Initiative

The U.S. visit of Britain's prime minister Anthony Eden in January will mark the full scale return of President Eisenhower to the international scene.

It is none too soon. It was Britain that put the impetus behind the Eden visit and back of it is the desire to review the decline of Western fortunes since mid-summer. Understandably it is time for the two great nations to review the collapse of the Spirit of Geneva, the new questions involving Germany, the West's difficulties in the Near East together with the significance of the Russian goodwill tour of India and other Asian nations.

The British approach is in contrast to that of Secretary of State Dulles, who has indicated the State Department is treating those events as routine. Perhaps the appearance of calmness is considered the proper frame of mind for the American public, but perhaps also it reflects a

Even at that, the circumstances do not suggest Nebraskans have changed. Thumbing through some early territorial history recently, we came upon a notation which said that the territorial government had appealed to Washington for funds for the construction of highways and for the building of bridges. Come that year of 1873, five years after Nebraska's admission to statehood, and the plea to Washington was for funds to take care of impoverished settlers.

Human nature, it seems, has not changed a great deal. Nebraska's attitude can be stated more accurately, perhaps, by saying that the people of this state earnestly desire to control their own educational program but they do not have any objection if Uncle Sam wants to come along and pick up the check.

current lack of a bold, imaginative plan to offset what must be admitted is a bold, international adventure by Russian statesmanship.

Time will tell the extent of the substantial and lasting gains Russia will enjoy from its current effort. They will be less than the enthusiasm and propaganda of the moment indicate. But this much is true. The West demonstrated a valuable initiative at the Summit conference in Geneva early in the year. But it cannot be gained that initiative has been lost and today it is Russia that is carrying the ball. The State Department cannot dismiss the significance of that by declaring an attitude that what is going on out in the world is purely routine. In world affairs as in individual progress the initiative is a vital asset. If the Eden visit does nothing more than recover a satisfactory amount of it, it will be eminently worthwhile.

The Price Of Secrecy

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

More power to Harry B. Strunk of McCook. It has become fashionable, it seems, for some of the columnists and commentators today to criticize irrigation, construction of big dams in sections of the semi-arid Middle West, storage of vast amounts of waste and flood waters, and finally the generation of cheap electricity in river basin development. Under cover of mounting surpluses of farm commodities, these very vocal critics who never favored resource development as it has become known are enjoying a Roman holiday at the expense of America's historic reclamation program.

Mr. Strunk seems to think it is time to fight back. Specifically he feels that Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay should answer a recent article written by Raymond Moley under the heading: "All Reclamation Isn't Successful."

We can think of better men to defend reclamation than the secretary of the interior. In his messing and muddling he has given the critics of reclamation a lot of encouragement. If irrigation and other objectives of the multiple-purpose dams have become as a result of the criticism of the Moileys and others, then it is because McKay and those under him in the Department of the Interior have been faint-hearted, confused, and weak-kneed in defense of reclamation. It is a little bit difficult in the true spirit of reclamation to be a Republican or Democrat first; and, a reclamationist second. The construction of dams, the storage of waste and flood waters, the development and expansion of irrigation, and other objectives of multiple-purpose dams are not partisan considerations, we take it. There had been no partisanship in any of this broad program of reclamation until the Eisenhower administration, coming into office, undertook to convince the American people that nothing that had been done was right and that a new conception of resource development was of the greatest importance.

Spokesmen for the Eisenhower administration can talk TVA and its glories abroad in sections of the Near East, in India, and at other points, but here at home TVA is "creeping Socialism." We can pour millions of dollars into river development in the interest of backward and primitive peoples, but here at home appropriations for reclamation should be cut to the bone in the interest of economy as a step to wipe out farm surpluses. There is too much land, it is said, under cultivation. It is folly to lend encouragement to irrigation, to bring additional acres into production, to do anything to reclaim the desert or the swamp.

We haven't the slightest notion whether this attack upon reclamation has aroused Mr. Strunk, and possibly others, until they are ready for battle. It may be now—next year—or five years hence—one thing is certain. There is going to have to be a showdown in the field of reclamation. Its friends are going to have to speak up. Either a policy begun in the early years of this present century under the administration of a Republican President, the late Theodore Roosevelt, is going to be restored and re-established or this western country will suffer. If these attacks upon a reclamation program are not turned back, it will be these states to the west of the Missouri River and their peoples who will pay and pay through the nose. We can talk about pinning raindrops where they fall, but when they do not fall and the land cries out in agony for moisture, then there is no substitute for the big dam, the reservoir created by it, and the water held in storage year after year to slake the thirst of growing crops. It is a little bit too much to expect Mr. Moley to understand this. It is too much to expect him to understand or sympathize with the fact that irrigation, and irrigation alone, saved the bulk of the corn crop produced in Nebraska in 1955.

Now, our own people here at home may close their eyes to the facts of life. Every acre of land that we can bring under irrigation in the next 10 years in this state will add to the stability of Nebraska's economy.

Squirrels Play, Ike's Gone Away

WASHINGTON — The Geneva spirit may be going to heck in a handbasket; war may be threatening in the Near East; and Secretary Dulles may rival "foot-in-mouth" Charley Wilson when it comes to saying the wrong thing at the wrong time. But at least one thing is better as a result of Ike's illness: The squirrels are having a wonderful time on the White House lawn.

All you have to do is go down to the White House and look at them. They're so bold and brazen it almost seems they've read the papers and know the boss is in Gettysburg.

White House guards won't say anything about it. Usually they are expansive and loquacious. They lead a kind of lonesome life standing around the White House in little guardhouses, and usually like to talk to people. But when it comes to squirrels — well, they're polite, but as tight-lipped as the Washington monument.

White House gardeners have the putting green behind the White House in excellent shape now, waiting the day when the nation's No. 1 golfer returns. And somehow or other the squirrels haven't molested it. Maybe they learned their lesson. Or maybe the explanation of White House Assistant Press Secretary Murray Snyder is the answer. Murray was approached on this subject. After all, he's paid to talk.

"We studied their habits and found there were only four squirrels causing the damage," he explained. Perhaps the inference was that the squirrels were Democrats. Anyway, they were transferred elsewhere.

Anyway, while Ike's away, the squirrels that remain are having a wonderful time.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Secretary of Defense Charley Wilson, once head of General Motors, wasn't a bit unhappy over the Senate predicament of the man who succeeded him, Harlow Curtice. Perhaps Charley remembered how glad Curtice was to have Charley get out . . . several months ago, Curtice had refused to attend Senate hearings unless subpoenaed. He got the subpoena and the results have been interesting . . . The five-year contract hastily given General Motors dealers was a victory for Frederick J. Bell, executive vice president of the National Auto Dealers Association, who has been working for better protection between dealers and all motor manu-

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

A friend predicted that traffic deaths next year would be considerably lower.

We sensed a story in embryo so questioned him on how he reached such a conclusion. He asserted that the traffic violation "point system" is just beginning to work. He explained that many motorists considered the state law providing that drivers be charged up with points on conviction for traffic violations was "just a joke."

The two year accumulation of points is just beginning to add up to the 12 that causes cancellation of licenses," he explained. Recently it appears there was a conversation between a prominent Lincoln citizen and a representative of the attorney general's office, inquiring how the farmer could get back a license that had been forfeited due to 12 points for violations.

"For the next year you can ride a horse, a bus or with a friend but don't try driving yourself," he was advised. "After that time, you can again qualify for a license. But don't ask me for help because my job is to prosecute law violators, not defend them."

"But, that's only part of the story I heard around the building," our informant continued. "The best is yet to come."

Then our friend revealed the story he overheard about how the hapless motorist got some of his points. His own young daughter, it appears, was in part responsible. The tale goes that the little girl was returning home when she espied a police radar unit stationed on the street. She was intrigued, stopped to investigate and childlike asked questions.

The courteous police, the story goes, went out of their way to explain the working of their electronic gadget and finding an interested youngster finally invited her inside the patrol car to see what happened when a car passed.

Both police and the little girl were disappointed when there seemed to be no cars using the street they were patrolling. The girl in blue suggested that they might as well quit but the little girl demurred.

"It's just about time for my Daddy to come home," she argued. "He always drives too fast." The officers of the law decided to wait a few more minutes to see if they could not demonstrate their machine for the girl. Suddenly a car traveling at a rapid facturers . . . Testified Alfred Sloan, GM chairman, before Sen. O'Mahoney: "It's easy to get into the appliance business . . . It doesn't take a great amount of capital to go into these things. All they had to do was put up 12 to 20 millions, which is not a large amount of money for industry." . . . Curtice is the man who's been opposed to the Eisenhower wing of the GOP and has recently fought the Henry Ford-Eisenhower Republicans in Michigan . . . Secretary of the Interior McKay, a General Motors dealer in Oregon, was glad he was not back selling cars but watching the GM battle from the safety of the cabinet . . . T. Coleman Andrews held General Motors was entitled to a $206,000, 000 tax refund while he was head of Internal Revenue.

Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina, a conscientious but sometimes naive soul, certainly seems to have fallen for the German property lobby. He's been holding hearings on the return of alien property and look who he's had as attorneys for his committee!

Attorney No. 1 is Harlan Wood, who found it expedient to retire from the D. C. draft board in 1942 after he was arrested for drunken driving in an accident that injured a pedestrian. He was acquitted, but later fired a .38 calibre bullet over the head of a law client, Dale Birdsell. The case was dismissed April 6, 1949, when Wood claimed it was a joke.

Attorney No. 2 is Le Roy Ingoldby, who also served as attorney for Fritz Von Opel, the famous German industrialist who is trying to get his Uberssee Company returned. This company, seized by the U.S. government during the war, operates the Harvard Brewing Company and the Spur filling stations in Kentucky.

Ingoldby, who will get paid in full if and when Von Opel gets his property back, can hardly be considered an unbiased attorney in acting for a Senate committee supposed to conduct an impartial probe into German property.

Olin's explanation is that Sen. Dirksen, Illinois Republican asked him to hire Ingoldby. This makes it worse. For Dirksen is one of the best friends of the German lobby. And under the Republicans, Dirksen employed as counsel John W. Nairn, who shared offices with Ray Jenkins, attorney for Interhandel whose property was also seized. It's funny how the German lobby seems to get around.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Hark, What Mean Those Holy Voices?

Hark! what mean those holy voices,
Sweetly sounding through the skies?
Lo! the angelic host rejoices;
Heavenly hallelujahs rise.

Listen to the wondrous story,
Which they chant in hymns of joy;
"Glory in the highest, glory,
Glory be to God most high!"

Peace on earth, good will from heaven,
Reaching far as man is found;
Souls redeemed and sins forgiven!
Loud our golden harps shall sound.

Christ is born, the great Anointed;
Heaven and earth His praises sing;
O receive whom God appointed,
For your Prophet, Priest, and King.

Hasten, mortals, to adore Him;
Learn His name, and taste His joy;
Till in heaven ye sing before Him,
"Glory be to God most high!"

By HORACE B. POWELL

Here is one of Christendom's great hymns of the Nativity. "For Christmas Day" is the title under which it appeared in Dr. Thomas Cotterill's "Sheffield Collection" in 1819. It was written by the Rev. John Cawood, an English churchman who began life as a farmer's son, with limited education advantages, but who managed by private study to gain entrance to the University of Oxford where he was graduated with honors in 1801.

Shortly after leaving the university, he began to prepare for the ministry. In 1814 he became curate of the church at Bewdely, in Worcestershire and he continued as spiritual leader there until his death, in 1852.

Cawood's Christmas hymn, though not as well-known or as widely sung as Dr. Isaac Watts' "Joy To The World," Edmund H. Sears' "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear," and James Montgomery's "Angels From The Realms Of Glory," is highly regarded by song leaders and singers of the church. It is undoubtedly one of the best of the dozen or more songs that he turned out. Several of the others were published, with the Christmas hymn, in the Cotterill collection.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Indonesia's Future Speculative

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Take 80-100 million people, an island chain rich in resources, and independence won after more than 300 years of colonial rule and you have the makings of the extraordinary experiment that is going forward in this new nation.

How it will come out only the bravest prophet would venture to say. But it continues to be one of the most exciting human dramas in this era of revolutionary change in Asia.

After a governmental crisis that began in June, Indonesians two months ago held their first national election. On the whole it was an orderly election and there is hope that a new government can be formed with a stability and effectiveness at least equal to that of the present coalition.

During the weeks of the governmental crisis with the uncertainty of the election ahead, the military is reported to have been tempted to seize power. It would not have been difficult, since the military leaders comprise one of the most coherent and alert groups in the country and they are strongly anti-Communist in their outlook. But if this was a real temptation the men in command put it aside, choosing to rely on the Democratic process, no matter how faltering and uncertain it might seem to this beginning phase.

Coming in from the remotest parts of the country, carried by barefoot runners along jungle trails and down river, the returns show unofficially the two major parties — the Moslem Masjumi party and the Nationalists — with slightly more than half of the 260 seats in the parliament. Next comes the Moslem orthodox radicals with 47 seats and fourth are the Communists with 42 seats.

The Communist total before was only 15 but they dominated 20 to 25 other leftist members, so they did not register an appreciable gain.

The problem ahead is to put personal and party rivalries to one side in the interests of stable government. This will be done if all goes well through a coalition of the top three parties or, if that fails because of the Nationalists' determination to go their own way, the two Moslem groups may get together with the splinter parties in a grouping that would have considerably less stability. There are altogether 190 different parties, and among the splinters that made a showing in the election were the Protestants, with 12 seats, and the Catholics with five.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK

Not Just Efficiency

Anselmo, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Will efficiency cure everything?

We hear that all we need is efficient farmers; factories will turn off all but efficient workmen; none but top-notch people will be allowed a place in our economy. What will become of just common people? And what will we do about efficient bank robbers, gamblers, propagandists, slickers of all kinds?

Perhaps we need some other kind of people instead of just efficient ones; such as honest people, truthful people, kind people, and people who do not try to put over secret deals even though they are efficient. Mr. Hoover said we should just look for the uncommon people, but no one tells what is to become of the common people. They seem to be the forgotten men.

Farm Woman Loses Life In Blaze

2-Story Home Destroyed By Blast, Flames

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. (AP)—The body of Mrs. Ernest Overton, about 60, was recovered from the ashes of the family farm home late Friday as volunteers probed through the smoldering rubble.

Mrs. Overton lost her life early Friday when fire swept through the farm home about five miles southeast of here so rapidly that her husband escaped only by jumping from a second story window.

Watching Television

Overton said he and his wife had returned from a party in Nebraska City late Thursday night and he had gone to his room on the second floor while his wife remained downstairs to watch television.

He said he heard her cry out just before flames engulfed the house and prevented him from going downstairs.

There were reports that a blast occurred just before the fire but they could not be confirmed at once.

Walls Standing

Only the walls of the brick home remained. Late Friday a crew of volunteers continued to sift rubble in the basement of the burned out home and it was during this work that they found Mrs. Overton's burned body.

Overton went to the home of a brother, Carl, after the fire. A daughter, Mrs. Joe Kuwitsky, lives in Auburn.

Dalton Man's Sentence Deferred In Tax Case

OMAHA (AP)—S. B. Hopkins, Dalton farmer, pleaded no defense in Federal District Court to charges that in 1949-50-51 he paid $1,644 in income taxes but actually should have paid $11,024. Judge J. A. Donohoe deferred sentence.

Santa Is Great Favorite With Kids

Three-year-old Sue Ellen Magnuson, offered a kiss by Santa Claus during his visit to Beatrice, seems to be in a quandary as to just where in that mess of whiskers she can place a kiss. Sister Mary Jean, 6, at right, is just too flabbergasted for words.

Waste Of Water At Dakota Projects Denied By Potter

OMAHA (AP)—There has been no waste of water at Corps of Engineers projects in South Dakota this season, Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River Division engineer, said.

Gen. Potter said recently published statements in South Dakota that water had been "wasted" this year to the detriment of hydro power production were entirely unfounded.

"The facts are that we have had two successive years of extremely low water yield in the Missouri Basin," Gen. Potter said. "This came at the most critical point of filling operations of three new main stem reservoirs—Garrison in North Dakota and Fort Randall and Gavins Point in South Dakota. Literally, every acre-foot of available water was conserved this year in order to meet the basic requirements of the authorized Pick-Sloan Plan.

"All urgent requirements for delivery of hydro power from the Missouri River power plants now in operation were supplied this year," the general said.

He said he hoped to be re-elected so he could further the work of the House Agriculture Committee, of which he is a member, and promote "to the fullest extent the important legislation" for which he has been responsible.

Harrison To File For Re-Election

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—Rep. R. D. Harrison, Third District Republican congressman, has announced he will seek re-election. Harrison will have at least three opponents in the primary. Already filed are Merle Haynes of South Sioux City, State Sen. Lester Anderson of Aurora and A. C. Carlson of Hordville.

Rep. Harrison said Friday he would make a formal filing for re-election at a later date.

He said he hoped to be re-elected so he could further the work of the House Agriculture Committee, of which he is a member, and promote "to the fullest extent the important legislation" for which he has been responsible.

Rites Saturday At Milford For C. F. Matzke, 81

LINCOLN Star Special
MILFORD, Neb. — Funeral services for Charles F. Matzke, 81, pioneer of the Milford vicinity, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Milford. He died in a Lincoln hospital after a long illness.

A native of Wisconsin, he came to Seward County in 1875. He served as postmaster and operated a store at Goehner until 1918 when he moved to a farm five miles northeast of Milford.

Going to Lincoln to reside in 1950, he had been hospitalized most of the time since suffering a stroke four years ago. His wife died in 1948.

Surviving are a son, Stanley A. of Hastings; four grandchildren; a brother, Jeffery of Aurora, Ore.; and two sisters, Hulda Matzke and Mrs. Esther Stolz, both of Milford.

6 Temporarily Overcome By Elgin Smoke

ELGIN, Neb. (AP)—Six firemen were temporarily overcome by smoke Friday while fighting a fire which destroyed the Ruddy Schindler office building in the Elgin business section.

Fire Chief Ralph Eckert said the cause of the blaze had not been determined. Firemen battled the blaze two hours in sub-zero weather before bringing it under control.

The building housed offices of the Schindler Enterprises and provided the Schindler family its residence.

The adjoining office of Dr. Frank Stehly suffered smoke damage. The new building to house the Hoffman Mortuary, now under construction, was not damaged. It adjoins the Schindler structure.

Boy Convicted In $4 Holdup

BEATRICE, Neb. (AP)—Thomas Casey, 16, of Omaha was convicted of armed robbery in District Court Friday in the $4 holdup of the Dixie Cream Donut shop here Oct. 19.

He was sentenced by District Judge Cloyd Ellis to an indeterminate term at the Boys Training School at Kearney. Casey had pleaded innocent in County Court.

A companion, Maurice Green, 17, of Omaha was killed when the youths' escape car overturned on a curve 8 miles south of Beatrice on Highway 77 following the hold-up.

Stolen Auto

The car in which the two youths were riding had been reported stolen.

At the time Sheriff E. G. (Ned) Maxwell said Marian Hadley, clerk in the donut shop, identified clothing taken from the body of Green as the same kind worn by a youth who entered the shop and ordered her to "hand over the money."

Livestock Feed In State Higher Than Over Nation

Feed is less plentiful and higher priced in Nebraska than in other parts of the nation, University of Nebraska economists reported Friday.

Total corn production in the state this year was only half of normal, explain Eldon Erickson and Everett Peterson. This has created a large demand in local markets and has forced feed prices up.

Feed is available from other areas, but by the time high transportation costs are paid the price has climbed considerably. Costs still are lower than last year, however.

Over the nation as a whole, the feed supply is large and is expected to continue growing each year. The big supply along with lower price supports and generally lower livestock prices are the cause of the lower feed prices.

Feed supplies have increased faster than have livestock numbers, the economists said.

Two-County Traffic Violations Reach 192

OSCEOLA, Neb. (AP)—Safety Patrol records show that since the installation of 14 radar sets in Polk and Butler Counties this summer, 192 traffic violations were recorded.

Patrol records also revealed that since the point system went into effect a year ago 150 licenses in the area were suspended.

Weather Ahead

Extended forecast for Nebraska:

Temperatures will average near normal in extreme western portion to 4 to 8 degrees below normal in the east. Normal highs range from the middle 30s in the northeast to the low 40s in the southwest, and normal lows from 15 in the north-central to 20 in the southeast. Warming trend early in the period followed by cooling beginning about Sunday or Monday. Intermittent light snow through the period, with moisture amounts less than one-tenth of an inch.

Snow Forecast For Central U.S.

Snow is expected Saturday over most of the north and central parts of the nation including northern and central Rockies and higher elevations of the northern and central plateau. It will be colder in the northeast and warmer in the southern plains and Mississippi Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Hardin Urges Efficient Water, Land Use

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—Efficient water and land use is an increasingly important factor in the maintenance of Nebraska's agricultural income, Dr. Clifford M. Hardin said here Friday before the joint meeting of the Nebraska State Irrigation Association and Nebraska Reclamation Association.

He pointed out that this is particularly true in Nebraska, "more so than in other U.S. agricultural areas where uniform production, year after year, is a little easier to obtain" because of better climatic conditions.

He said the agricultural pace is being set by the constant producing areas and if Nebraska is to keep up with this pace, there must be a closer link between research and experiment stations and the practicing farmer.

Right Timing Necessary
Dr. Hardin reported that recent tests at the Scottsbluff Experiment Station showed that three irrigations during the critical pollination period resulted in 95 per cent as much yield as six irrigations spread over the whole growing season.

Reporting that since 1950 pump irrigation has expanded at a rate of 10 per cent each year, Dr. Hardin called attention to the need for careful planning in the further development of pump irrigation.

"Nebraska has sufficient groundwater supplies to permit further expansion. There is substantial evidence, however, to indicate that pump irrigators in many Nebraska areas would obtain greater efficiency by using smaller pumps than the 1,000-gallon models many of them choose to install."

The joint conventions closed Friday with addresses by University of Nebraska agriculture college Dean W. V. Lambert, A. R. Marquardt, assistant state soil conservationist with the soil conservation service, and Dr. S. L. Bowman, manager of the pathfinder district.

r. Lambert discussed his trip to Russia and said the U.S. "can't sit back" in view of Russian progress in graduating engineers and doctors. Marquardt traced the history of the congressional watershed act and means of obtaining funds under it. Dr. Bowman told of experiences in the pathfinder district in combating flash floods.

Munn Elected

The irrigation ass'n. elected George A. Munn, Ord, president; Gordon H. Robbins, Grand Island, first vice president; George Brownfield, Hershey, second vice president, and Dan Jones, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer. The reclamation ass'n. did not name new officers.

Resolutions by the joint committee of the groups included favoring formation of a state irrigation department, inclusion of a course in water laws in the University of Nebraska, construction of a 230 volt power line from Fort Randall to central Nebraska, and development of the Gering Valley flood control project.

Rev. Aherne, 88, Dies In Hospital

OMAHA (INS)—The Rt. Rev. James Aherne, 88-year-old Roman Catholic priest who held pastorates at Wisner, Alliance, Chadron, West Point and Jackson, Neb., died at an Omaha hospital Friday.

Monsignor Aherne, a native of Ireland, was ordained in 1890 at Park Place convent, now Duchesne College. He had served in Omaha Experimental hydrogen explosions which are being staged in various parts of the world are complicating tritium measurements, used in determining the age of groundwater, the chancellor said.

After the U.S. Pacific tests last year, the tritium content of atmospheric water in Nebraska increased about 50 times the normal rate, he declared.

He said that "this unnatural factor does not make the tritium tests useless, but it does mean that careful checks must be maintained on 'the going tritium content' from season to season."

MAN ADMITS $70 ROBBERY STORY HOAX

A Lincoln man has admitted that his story of being robbed of $70 by two men on Highway 77 near Princeton was a hoax.

The "victim," after hitchhiking a ride to Beatrice, told authorities there he had been flagged down by two men in a stranded car and robbed at gunpoint of his money.

Beatrice authorities referred the case to the Lancaster County Sheriff's office.

Deputies Frank Jacox and Frank Steinacher became suspicious of the man's story when his descriptions of the holdup men were "too perfect" and the robbery scene revealed only one set of car tracks in the light snow.

Under questioning, the victim admitted he had lost the $70 in Fairbury while on business and after failing to find the money after a long search had reported a false robbery.

He had concocted the story, he said, because he "had to pacify my wife."

Brothers Living In Same House Silent 12 Years

OMAHA (P)—A story on how two Omaha brothers—an attorney and a doctor—lived in the same house for 12 years without speaking was revealed in a will contest.

The story came out when Dr. Frank C. Karlovsky went to court to contest the will of brother James W., who died two weeks ago.

James W. Karlovsky left $1 to the doctor and rest of his $6,000 estate to a cousin, Emma Kalcik. Dr. Karlovsky's petition said Emma moved in with them in 1943 and a dispute over her presence started the long silence.

He charged Emma had "undue influence" over his brother.

MRS. GILBERT KOPPERT

Arrangements of white gladioli and holly boughs, and lighted candles in seven-branched candelabra formed the chancel decor at the Havelock Christian Church where the wedding of Miss Anita Faye France, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron C. France, and Gilbert Koppert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Koppert of Plymouth, took place on Friday evening, Dec. 9. The Rev. Merlin Dana read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Mary Walters, organist. Miss Walters also accompanied Floyd Bracken, the vocal soloist.

Mrs. E. D. Gregg, as the matron of honor and only attendant, appeared in a frock of velvet in the winterberry shade. The bodice, decollete under a white net shoulder stole, was snugly fitted above the ballerina-length skirt. Her bouquet was fashioned of gladioli and holly. Kathy Gregg was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Thomas Beachall and Dennis Lee, cousins of the bride.

Had Church Ceremony

MRS. LOREN D. LAHM

For the marriage of Miss JoAnne Butz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Butz Jr. to Loren D. Lahm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verner O. Lahm, which was solemnized Friday evening, Dec. 9, lighted white candles in floor candelabra and arrangements of white carnations and evergreens appointed the chancel of Zion Congregational Church.

The lines of the 8 o'clock service were read by the Rev. J. P. Flemmer, and Miss Verna Loos, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Scotty Kaufman, vocal soloist.

Wearing ballerina-length frocks of crystal and Mrs. Harry I. Hornby, in frosted turquoise, who was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jane O'Dell, Mrs. Milton Klein and Mrs. Richard Hedges, in the cyclamen tone. Their identical ensembles were fashioned with torso bodices, narrowly cuffed at the hips, beneath which the skirts flared into fullness, and they carried cascades of white carnations and ivy. Lighting the candles were Miss Margaret Rotert and Miss Barbara Wood.

Harry I. Hornby served Mr. Lahm as best man, and the ushers were Donald Lahm and Dee Ehrlich, cousins of the bridegroom, and Ronald Vosika.

Plan March Wedding

COMPARED to all of the activity that not only is possible but highly probable some two weeks from today, the current week-end may seem rather quiet—but it isn't. There are parties for brides-elect—there are guests—and there is this and that to make things interesting.

NO small portion of the activity this week-end involves Miss Mary Janet Reed whose marriage to Ens. Ted Barger will take place on Dec. 22.

On Friday evening Miss Reed was an honoree when Mrs. H. B. Morton, Mrs. Howard Doty and Mrs. Harold Hayes were hostesses at an 8 o'clock dessert supper at the University Club. Twenty-one guests were invited for the supper and a kitchen shower was presented the bride-elect.

ON Miss Reed's Saturday calendar are two parties—the first is a 10:30 o'clock coffee for which Mrs. Gene Gessner will be hostess when she entertains a small group of guests in courtesy to the soon-to-be bride. The group presented Miss Reed with a bathroom shower.

The second of the Saturday courtesies is the luncheon for which Miss Nancy Gardner and Mrs. David Neely of Omaha will be hostesses when they entertain at the University Club. Luncheon places will be arranged for 19.

ANOTHER of the December brides—Miss Patricia Childs, who is to marry James Colling on Dec. 31, will be honored today when Mrs. K. D. Oslund is a luncheon hostess at Twin Pines. An informal afternoon will follow the luncheon and the bride-to-be will be given a china shower.

NEXT Thursday Mrs. Ralph Smith will honor Miss Childs when she is hostess at a linen shower at her home.

And last Wednesday the bride-elect was an honoree when Mrs. Ted Randolph and Mrs. Larry Fowler were hostesses at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Fowler.

Child's Birthplace A Schooling Factor

...Says Speaker To NSEA Here

By BARBARA HEMPHILL
Star Staff Writer

The accident of birth, geographically, determines the quality of education a child receives in the United States, Dr. Robert F. Williams of Richmond, Va., said here Friday.

Dr. Williams, executive secretary of the Virginia Education Assn., spoke at a meeting of the State Education Assn. Delegate Assembly.

The responsibility of the teaching profession is to see that inequities resulting from the accident of where a child is born are eliminated "to the greatest possible extent," he told the delegates.

"The modus operandi through which we must try to realize this objective is strong local, state and national professional organizations," he said.

Every child in this country, he said, should be able to attend school in a good building with adequate facilities in which he can work, play and grow.

Teacher Important

And every child must have teachers who are qualified, dedicated and competent, Dr. Williams said.

School districts should be large enough for a rich curriculum, he added.

There must be a broad tax base, he said, and equalization in the tax burden and in distribution of state funds so a minimum level of support can be maintained throughout each state.

That is necessary, Dr. Williams said, because how good a child's education will be depends not only on which state he lives in, but also on what section of the state he lives in.

Take Responsibility

Every community, along with the teaching profession, must take the responsibility for seeing that all children get a good education, he continued.

The community, he said, must know school needs, requirements and desirable practices.

Every child, Dr. Williams added, deserves to live in "a community that cares and a community that acts."

Dr. Williams' speech followed the Delegate Assembly dinner Friday evening.

About 325 persons, including the 175 official delegates, attended the opening session of the two-day meeting.

Officers Saturday

New officers of the Delegate Assembly, voted on Friday, will be announced Saturday afternoon just before adjournment.

Presidential nominees are Gladys V. Anderson, special elementary music teacher in the Lincoln schools, and Mrs. Mildred Lang, social studies teacher and girls' counselor at Fremont High School.

Nominated for vice president were L. E. Hanson, Ogallala superintendent of schools, and Lawrence Lemons, Scottsbluff High School principal.

F. B. Decker, state commissioner of education, told the delegates their greatest problem today is "trying to educate the thousands of children now in school and the increasing thousands that will be in school in coming years."

He said all agencies dealing with education — teachers' groups, PTAs, teacher training institutes and state education departments — "should be concerned about the problem and work toward the common goal."

It will take the combined efforts of all those groups, Decker said, to adequately educate the increasing numbers of school-age children.

Woman Indicted In Heiress Death

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Mrs. Gertrude Silver Friday was indicted on four counts by the December Grand Jury in the abortion death of her daughter, 22-year-old food chain heiress Doris Jean Oestreicher.

Mrs. Silver, 49, was indicted on counts charging accessory before the fact, abortion, abortion resulting in death and conspiracy.

Six witnesses, including three physicians and three law officers, were the only persons to testify.

Mrs. Silver, who is free on $1,500 bail, possibly may be tried with Milton and Rosalie Schwartz, a north Philadelphia couple who are charged with performing the illegal operation that caused the death of the heiress on Aug. 24.

More Testimony

JONESBORO, Ark. (INS)—More witnesses testified in the suit for an injunction by the Hoxie, Ark., school board against groups protesting the integration of schools in Hoxie, a community of 2,000. Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves of Kansas City is hearing the case at Jonesboro. First witnesses were heard Thursday.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

SUGAR RAY WORLD CHAMP AGAIN

Second Round KO Ends Olson Reign

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson rolled back the years and summoned one swift burst of violence from his youth to knock out Carl (Bobo) Olson in 2:51 of the second round Friday night to become the first man ever to twice win back the world middleweight title.

The Sugar man from Harlem, a scorned 3-1 underdog at the age of 35, suddenly burst into furious action in the second round with a rain of punches. A right uppercut was the final blow that dropped Olson flat on his back.

Baldish Bobo, who won the crown in an elimination series after Robinson "retired" in 1952, rolled over on one side and then the other as Referee Frank Sikora rolled off the count of 10.

It Was Too Late
Just after the fatal count, Olson began to climb slowly to his feet, but it was too late.

Robinson's jubilant corner crew bolstered by others from his entourage of managers, trainer, police and handlers, hoisted him into the air and toted him around the ring in their excitement. They held him up for several seconds as the crowd buzzed with excitement at the Chicago Stadium.

It was the second time Robinson had knocked out Olson and the third time he had beaten the Hawaiian-born mauler from San Francisco. Olson also was flattened earlier this year, on June 22, when he ventured over his head into Archie Moore's light-heavyweight division.

Perhaps he still was gunshy from the Moore debacle.

No Contract Filed
Although no rematch contract was filed with the Illinois Athletic Commission, Truman Gibson secretary of the International Boxing Club, said the two fighters had signed contracts for another bout in 90 days if Olson should lose.

Both judges, Ed Hintz and John Bray, gave that first round to Robinson, 10-9, and Referee Sikora called it even, 10-10. The AP had Robinson on top, 10-9, in that one completed round.

It was a sensational comeback for Robinson, once ruler of both the welter and the middleweight classes. He, too, had made the mistake of moving up to the light-heavy class to box Joey Maxim, then champion, and suffered a 14-round TKO on a steaming June night in 1952.

Brilliant Career
That was the only time Robinson ever failed to go the distance in his brilliant 144-bout career.

As the second round started, Robinson jolted Bobo with another right-hand lead. Olson wore a puzzled frown as he moved inside banging away to the body and ducking under Sugar Ray's counter right.

Then it happened. Coolly sizing up the opening in his familiar opponent, Sugar Ray lashed out with a rapid left-right combination. Another fast series made Bobo give way and then came the right uppercut on the whiskers, followed by a left that was hardly needed.

Down went Olson, creaking the canvas with his back. At about "four" he started to roll over on one side, and then rolled over completely as the count mounted.

Corrected Ten
Ring Announcer Ben Bentley first announced it at 1:51 but quickly corrected it to 2:51 as the Robinson corner jubilantly celebrated its victory.

It was in this same Chicago Stadium ring that Robinson first won the middleweight crown, torturing champion Jake LaMotta like a torturer taunting a bull, to stop Jake, in the 13th round, Feb. 14, 1951.

After a European tour, Robinson lost the title to Randy Turpin in England in July 1951, and won it back in September of the same year in another desperation attack after he had suffered an eye cut.

Before moving on to the Maxim match, Robinson defended his rewon championship against Olson, March 13, 1952, when he won a 15-round decision and against Rocky Graziano whom he knocked out in three rounds, April 16, 1952.

Announced His Retirement
It was long after the Maxim disaster that Robinson announced his retirement Dec. 13, 1952.

Away from the ring for about 31 months, except for an exhibition and a tuneup with Joe Rindone, Robinson came back to this same stadium last Jan. 19 to take a beating from Tiger Jones. Although he was advised to hang 'em up again, he kept going and moved up to an Olson match by beating Rocky Castellani July 22.

"It seemed too fast," said the glum Olson in his dressing room. "I don't know, maybe the referee counted too fast. Did I try to get up?"

Sid Flaherty, his manager, butted in to say, "Family troubles are not conducive to good fighting."

Olson's wife recently announced she was suing for divorce.

Although Olson said "I'll fight him again," Flaherty came back with "we want to straighten out his family troubles before we think about fighting again."

Riding Pink Cloud
Robinson was riding on a small pink cloud in his dressing room, elated at having "showed 'em" he could come back.

"I took about as much abuse as a man can from some people who did not have confidence in my comeback after Tiger Jones licked me," he said.

"The thing became a ghost with me. But it's all over now. I hit him once and he wobbled. And then, I just kept hitting him."

Shortly before the bout, Robinson learned that his 25 per cent of the gate and the $75,000 radio-television money (Olson got 35 per cent) had been attached by the federal government as a lien against a reported $81,000 in unpaid income taxes.

3 Local Teams To Play Tonight
Capital City basketball teams are involved in three games tonight, two out of town and one a local contest.

Lincoln High and University High are on the road. The Links will meet the Jeffs at Fairbury, and the Tutors will play at Omaha Holy Name.

Southeast, after losing a Mid-East conference game to cross-town Northeast last night, is entertaining another Mid-East power tonight, the Beatrice Orangemen.

The Southeast-Beatrice scrap will start at 8 p.m. in the Southeast gym.

Fairbury Scores Twin Rivers Win
FAIRBURY — Fairbury bounced back after trailing for almost the entire first half to win their Twin Rivers Conference game over Plattsmouth, 47-44, Friday night.

Fairbury took over the lead at the end of the first half and held on to it by one slim point until they made a layup to give them the edge over the Blue Devils. Art Ackerman hit 19 points to take the Fairbury scoring honors.

Bob Beverage was high scorer for the losers.

Northeast seniors Rudy Stoehr and Wayne Hester alternated as net-burners to pace the Rockets to a 61-29 victory over Southeast at the Knight's gym Friday night.

Hester, a 6-1 set-shot artist, tossed in 17 points in the first quarter and added seven more in the second to push the Rockets to a 32-12 halftime lead.

He cooled off in the second half, but center Stoehr, breaking out from his position under the bucket, dropped in 16 points after the intermission to keep the Rocket attack at full speed.

The pair combined to score 52 of Northeast's 61 points. Hester totaled 28 and Stoehr registered 24.

The visiting Rockets took control of the game early in the opening quarter when Hester started hitting. Wayne Michaelis and Rich Madden scored six points after the first tipoff for Southeast to keep the Knights within striking distance, 9-6.

Northeast's defense shut out the Knights for the remainder of the period while Hester went on his rampage and the Rockets took a 21-6 lead as the quarter ended.

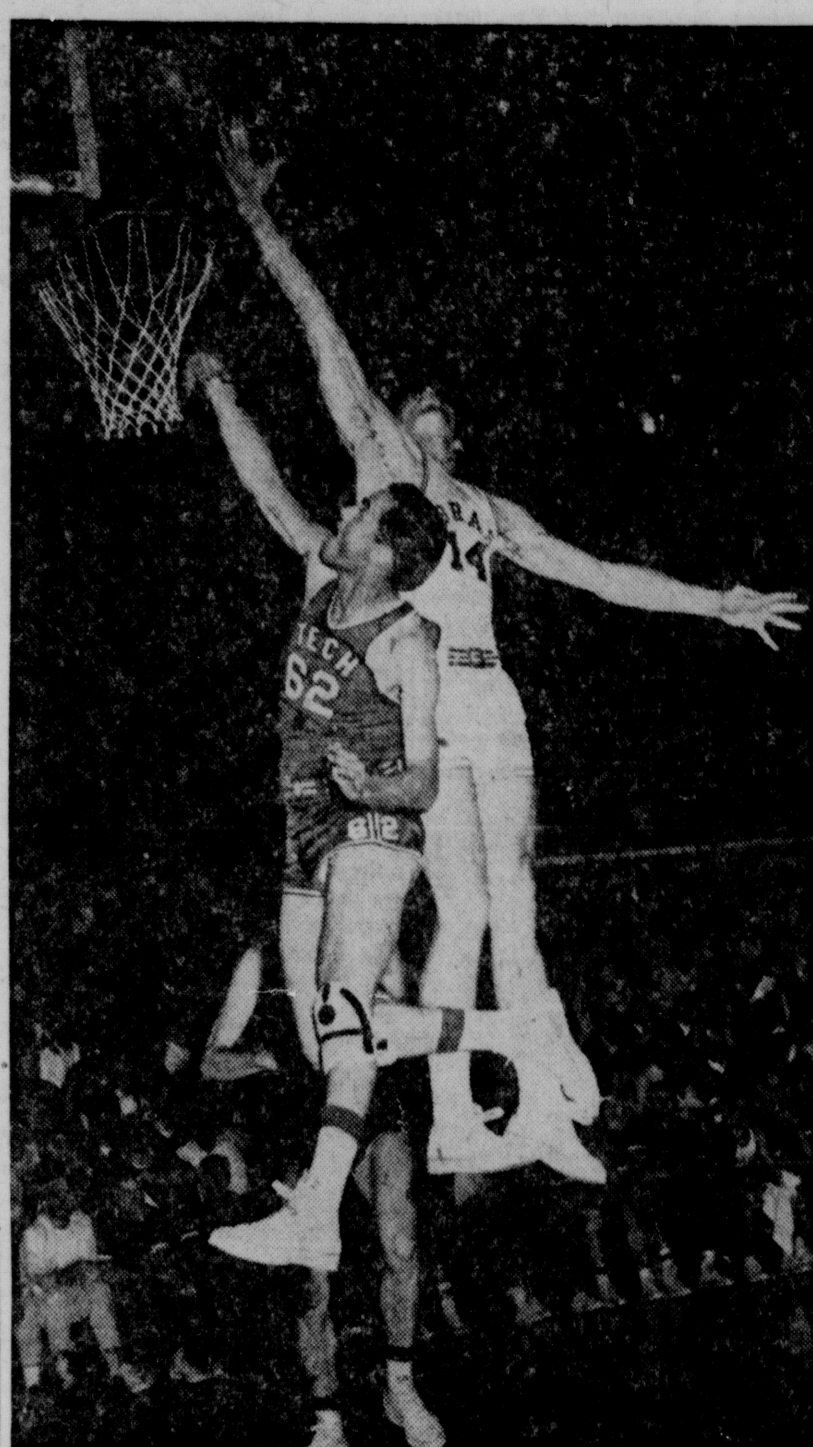

Northeast, playing its second game of the year, connected on 69 per cent of its shots during the blazing first quarter.

The pace slowed during the second period as the Rockets added 11 points and the Knights six.

Stoehr opened the throttle following the halftime break, and the Rockets were in complete control of the ball game with a 21-point margin at the third quarter buzzer, 48-19.

Nebraska Cagers Come From Behind, Catch Tall Texas Tech In Stretch

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

It took an overtime period, but Nebraska's Cornhuskers overcame battling Texas Tech, 69-63, Friday night before 5,000 breathless fans in a Coliseum thriller.

Actually, the contest—the Huskers' first on the floor—was a drab affair until the last five minutes of the regular game.

Up to that point Nebraska looked like strangers in a strange place. The Huskers were having a miserable night trying to find the hoop, but they never quit and that paid off.

Included in the last minutes of the non-conference game were clutch plays by Charley Smith, Bob Mercer and Bud Doebele and coaching strategy by NU's Jerry Bush.

Nebraska trailed 52-48 going into the stretch before Mercer dribbled in for a layup. Jim Reed, a third-team All-American last year fractured the Husker defense for two quick layups to run his total to 30 and Nebraska looked doomed.

But Smith looped in a tip and Rex Ekwall hit a jump shot. DuWayne Blackshear came back with a layup to make it 58-54.

Bush rushed Doebele into the fray and he responded with a bucket and Mercer tied it up with a pair of free throws. Blackshear gave the Raiders the lead again, but with 2:50 left Smith tied it up, 60-60.

It was time for strategy and the Huskers called time out. The clock showed 1:47 left.

Coolly, despite the frantic shouting of the fans, Nebraska passed and dribbled, stalling as if the Huskers had a slim lead. They were waiting for the one shot that would mean victory. Norm Coufal got the shot away at the gun, but it just hit the rim and an overtime period was in order.

Coufal didn't miss the next time he shot and Nebraska went ahead, 63-60 with 4:35 left to play. Doebele and Mercer, a pair of unheralded subs, then sparked the home club to victory.

Dud and Blackshear got in some good looks during a roster fighting session before Official Alex George called a double foul. Blackshear sank his shot and the heat was on Doebele.

He responded by hitting his gift toss and NU led, 63-61.

Doebele scrambled spiritedly on the tipoff and came up with the ball and the Huskers called time out again with 2:45 left.

Once again Bush ordered the stall and the scrapping Texans were forced to go for the ball. In so doing Mercer was fouled and he neatly dunked two shots before Smith broke loose for the back-breaker, a layup with a minute left.

Reed, the better-half of the Texas one-two punch hit his 32nd point a few seconds later to make it 67-63, but Coufal canned a long shot with four seconds left and the Huskers had their first win of the campaign.

Ironically, it was Coufal who gave Nebraska its first lead of the game, just four seconds before the end of the half, when he made good on two free throws. The Huskers left the floor with a 32-30 margin.

With Reed and Blackshear—he finished with 18—hitting consistently, the Raiders led until the last 18 seconds of the half. Coufal tied it up with a jump shot before making his gift tosses.

Nebraska got its widest margin early in the second half as Don Smidt and Coufal teamed to push the Huskers out 38-33. But Reed started hitting again and it was nip and tuck until the end.

Nebraska hit 24 for 72 (33 per cent) from the floor and 21 for 32 (66 per cent) from the line, while Texas Tech made good on 22 of 56 field goals (39 per cent) and 19 of 27 free throws (70 per cent).

Team effort and hustle paid off for the Huskers who entrained after the game for a two-game road trip. Saturday night they play at Michigan and then fly to Kansas for a Monday game with Wichita U.

It was Texas Tech's fourth loss to a Big Seven team in a week. Missouri, Kansas State and Iowa State had beaten the Raiders previously.

Chips Down For Bears, Rams Race

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

The chips will be down Sunday for the Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Bears in the National Football League's Western Conference championship race, but the Cleveland Browns have the Eastern Conference title in the bag no matter what happens in their game with the Chicago Cardinals.

Key games in this final week of play in the regular season find the Rams, leading the Western loop by half a game, entertaining the Green Bay Packers at Los Angeles and the second-place Bears entertaining the Philadelphia Eagles at Chicago.

Cleveland, which clinched the Eastern crown by defeating Pittsburgh last Sunday, meets the Cardinals in Cleveland. It will mark the final home appearance for Otto Graham, the Browns' great passer and signal caller who came out of retirement to play one more season.

Rams Or Bears
This year the championship game will find Cleveland playing either the Rams in Los Angeles or the Bears in Chicago Dec. 26. A year ago Coach Paul Brown's Clevelanders, who now have won the Eastern title for six straight years, beat the Detroit Lions in the championship game 56-10.

In other games Sunday Baltimore, seeking to gain third place in the West, plays the 49ers at San Francisco, with the New York Giants at Detroit and Pittsburgh at Washington.

Stunned Bobo Olson Asks: 'Did I Try To Get Up'

By JOE MOOSHL
CHICAGO (AP)—A stunned, bewildered Bobo Olson sat in his dressing room after he had lost his middleweight title tonight to Ray Robinson by a second-round knockout.

"So fast, so fast," muttered Olson. "It was his fast combinations and I got careless. It was too fast, too fast."

"I don't know, maybe the ref counted too fast. Did he?" questioned Olson.

"Did I try to get up?" he asked. Someone assured Bobo he made a try at the count of eight and then rolled over.

"I did?" asked the unbelieving Olson.

Then in a reply to his own question, he said, "I don't know."

Flaherty Stepped In
Olson's manager, Sid Flaherty stepped in:

"Gentlemen, family troubles are not conducive to fighting. You got to feel like fighting to fight a good fight."

Flaherty was referring to Olson's marital difficulties. He added: "We want to straighten out his family troubles before we think about fighting again."

There was no question in Olson's mind that Moore, the lightweight champion, was a much harder puncher than Robinson, who had just won back the middleweight title.

But there must have been other questions.

Bobo just sat glumly, shaking his head.

Bobo was somewhat dazed as he returned to his dressing room. He winced slightly as he passed Robinson's dressing room, which was empty at the time since the new champion was not yet down.

"I don't know what ended it," said Olson. "I mixed it up with him and he nailed me with a combination."

Actually, it was a combination with a right uppercut that ended it.

When told about the end, Olson shook his head sadly and said "I don't know."

The question of a rematch was left in the air. Bobo said "I'll fight" but Flaherty wants the domestic problem straightened out first.

According to the contract, Olson can demand a rematch in 90 days.

Stu Holcomb Is Named To Northwestern's Post

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Affable Stu Holcomb Friday stepped out as head football coach at Northwestern.

due and into the athletic directorship at Northwestern because "I like the challenge the new job offers."

Holcomb had been at Purdue since 1947 and had four years to go or a 10-year contract. He signed as Northwestern's athletic boss and associate professor in physical education for five years comparable, or better, than the salary he received from the Boilermakers.

This was estimated to be in the neighborhood of $13,000 to $15,000. Holcomb succeeds Ted Payseur, who recently was switched to a position as assistant business manager of Northwestern for promotion of athletics.

Holcomb said he has not contemplated a change in the coaching staff at this time, but will talk with Head Football Coach Lou Saban and others on the staff early next week. If a new coach is hired Polcomb said that he would be signed to a contract of at least three years.

"We've got to roll up our sleeves and really work hard the next three or four years to get a strong football team back at Northwestern," he said. "It took us six years at Purdue to get good enough to tie for the Big 10 title."

"Frankly, a winning team is needed for a healthy athletic program. We can't do it overnight, unless we did it illegally and this we won't do. We probably must be more aggressive, however, in getting good football players."

Brooks' Meyer Sent To Cubs

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers Friday traded veteran pitcher Russ Meyer to the Chicago Cubs for an undisclosed amount of cash and pitcher Don Elston of Los Angeles.

The deal was regarded as a "rider" to the trade between the clubs two days ago when the Dodgers got third baseman Randy Jackson in exchange for third baseman Don Hoak and outfielder Walt Moryn.

Meyer, a 31-year-old righthander from Peru, Ill., broke into the big leagues with the Cubs in 1946 and was traded by them to the Phillies after the 1948 season. He moved on to the Dodgers as part of a four-way deal involving the Cubs, Braves, Cincinnati and Brooklyn in 1953.

Ironically, the volatile Meyer was most effective against the Cubs. He has a 24-3 lifetime record against them and that seems enough to justify bringing him back. His major league won-loss record is 92-67. He was 32-13 with Brooklyn including a 6-2 record for 1955.

Elston, a 26-year-old righthander from McHenry, Ill., posted a 17-6 mark in the Pacific Coast League in the past season.

If Robbie's Sold, Orioles Want Him

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles put in a bid Friday for Jackie Robinson if the Brooklyn Dodgers are thinking about getting rid of him.

Jack Dunn, assistant general manager of the Orioles said: "We're definitely interested if Robinson is available." He said he was calling Brooklyn officials to tell them the "Orioles are ready to talk business."

Speculation arose that the Dodgers may be ready to let go of major league baseball's first Negro player after they acquired third baseman Randy Jackson from the Chicago Cubs last week.

Cubs Sell Baumholtz

CHICAGO (AP)—Outfielder Frankie Baumholtz, 36, who nearly left the National League last year, Friday was sold by the Chicago Cubs to the Philadelphia Phillies.

The purchase price was not disclosed.

The Cubs, at the 1954 minor league meetings, announced Baumholtz' sale to the Chicago White Sox of the American League, but the deal failed because the Cubs neglected to obtain proper waivers.

When the Phils and Giants claimed Baumholtz on new waivers, the Cubs kept him for the 1955 season in which he batted .289 in 105 games and 405 as a pinch hitter with 15 safe blows in 37 AB's.

Baumholtz had been with the Cubs since 1949 when he was obtained with outfielder Hank Sauer from the Cincinnati Redlegs for outfielders Peanuts Lowrey and Harry Walker.

Ray Estes, Florida State freshman end, comes from Auburn, Maine.

Congress Told Tax System Full Of Undermining Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. income tax system is full of special provisions, undermining the idea that the system is based on ability to pay, witnesses told Congress Friday.

A panel of professors offered this description to a Senate-House Economic subcommittee studying the principles of taxation as they relate to economic growth and stability.

Harold M. Groves, University of Wisconsin professor of economics, said the tax system, though nominally based on ability to pay, is "so honeycombed with the results of pressure politics that it is becoming a symbol of hypocrisy."

William L. Cary, professor of law at Columbia University, said "the law is being riddled with special provisions while we preserve the fiction of uniformity."

Became Rule

William J. Blum, a University of Chicago law school professor, added that "over the years our income tax has become one in which special preferential treatment has become the rule rather than the exception."

Randolph E. Paul, Washington lawyer, said the income tax system "is more and more tending to do equity in a sense of even treatment of persons with equal income."

Among numerous tax provisions cited were ones relating to tax exempt securities, stock option privileges of business executives, depletion allowances for oil and other natural resources, capital gains, dividend income, and the charging of "personal consumption expenditures" to business expense.

Paul said, speaking generally, "the discriminations in our income tax structure were in favor of high bracket taxpayers."

Against Payers

But he said the discrimination is "principally against taxpayers, small and large, who are self-employed or whose income consists principally of salaries, professional fees and wages."

Cary said that "today's large investor probably constitutes the most important beneficiary of preferential treatment."

He said also that tax considerations have played a major role "in the current shift of collective bargaining from wages alone to fringe benefits."

"Perhaps the time will come," he said, "when the individual unfortunate enough to receive all his wages in money will have an impossible tax burden."

Groves said public hearings are monopolized by special interests and the general taxpayer and consumer have small chance of an effective hearing.

ICC Considering McNutt For Post

Robert McNutt of Lincoln is being considered for a post with the Interstate Commerce Commission, it was reported Friday.

McNutt, 34-year-old attorney and former state senator, said he had heard he was under consideration for a post with the commission, but knew nothing more about it.

When asked if he would consider an appointment to the commission, he said he did not know since he had no details on what the job would be.

McNutt is now a trust officer with the First Trust Co. of Lincoln.

He was born at Colby, Kan., and was graduated from the University of Nebraska, where he played football.

MORRIS ANSWERS ON SHORTS

Ousted Reformatory Superintendent George Morris charged Friday that the Board of Control is using "half truths, quarter truths and untruths in an attempt to cover up their excessive spending of tax money."

But, said Morris in a statement, "I think the people of Nebraska can see through the smoke-screen."

Morris charged that "half truths" were given out about the "cost of the destruction at the Penitentiary and Reformatory."

Further on expense, he charged that putting Reformatory inmates into uniform "as part of their program of reintegration" will increase costs "thousands of dollars a year."

And the former superintendent said, that although two employees have been hired to take over work inmates were doing in the parole office, "the same inmates (are) still doing the same work ... another waste of tax money."

Good Enough

Regarding clothing at the Reformatory, Morris charged that although the Board said underwear "was not previously available," new underwear, "of service specification received on the surplus

Light Plane Crash Kills 2 Brothers

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (INS) — Two brothers were killed Friday when their light private plane crashed about 15 miles southeast of Castle Rock.

The Colorado State Patrol identified the victims as Paul Frank Woodhouse and James Frank Woodhouse of Louviers, Colo. They reportedly owned a ranch in east central Colorado.

State patrol cars and rescue planes from the 44th Air Rescue Squadron at Lowry Air Force Base Converged on the scene minutes after the crash was reported.

The cause of the crash and the destination of the plane were not known.

Motor Damaged

A fire caused by an overheated blower motor in a furnace at the Miss Gertrude Robey home at 2134 Park Ave. resulted in damage to the motor only. Firemen called to the scene at 10:25 p.m. extinguished the fire.

Train Wrecks Auto Stalled On Tracks

An auto, stalled on the railroad tracks north of the Penitentiary, was wrecked when struck by a Burlington train Friday. No one was injured.

Burlington Special Agent D. W. Wells said the 1947 car was registered to Benedict Zarnick of Genoa. Zarnick told authorities he drove onto the tracks about 11 p.m. Thursday when he thought it was a road.

When he couldn't get off the tracks, Zarnick said he went to find help but the train hit the car, knocking it off the tracks, before he returned.

Turk Cabinet Formed

ISTANBUL (INS) — Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes announced formation of a new 18-man cabinet Friday in which he also will hold the defense portfolio. Eight members of previous cabinets are in the new one for which Menderes will ask a vote of confidence next Tuesday.

Woman Ends Life With Yule 'Gift' Gun

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — A woman who told a pawn shop clerk she was buying a pistol as a Christmas present for her brother used the weapon to kill herself Friday in a train depot restroom, Police Chief Charles Howard said.

The .22 caliber target pistol, a gift box and gay holiday wrappings lay on the floor beside the body of Mrs. J. P. Crider, Howard said.

Members of her family told a reporter that the 45-year-old Mrs. Crider had been despondent over an illness. A note relating to this was also found, Howard said. Her husband, a traveling salesman for a wholesale grocery concern, was out of town at the time of the shooting.

Mrs. Hingst will fill a vacancy resulting from the expiration of the term of Mrs. Pauline Reins of Omaha.

Normal Training To Drop

Six More Schools May Cut Program, NSEA Reports

The number of Nebraska high schools offering normal training is expected to drop to 27 by next summer.

Six high schools — Albion, Hyannis, Trenton, Ulysses, Wisner and McPherson County — discontinued this teacher training program with the start of this school year.

Eleven more schools are considering discontinuance next spring. They are Genoa, Hayes Center, Leigh, Litchfield, Newcastle, St. Paul, Schuyler, Sterling, Spalding, Superior and Wood River.

Thirty years ago 243 schools were offering the training, the Nebraska Education News, publication of the Nebraska State Education Assn., noted Friday.

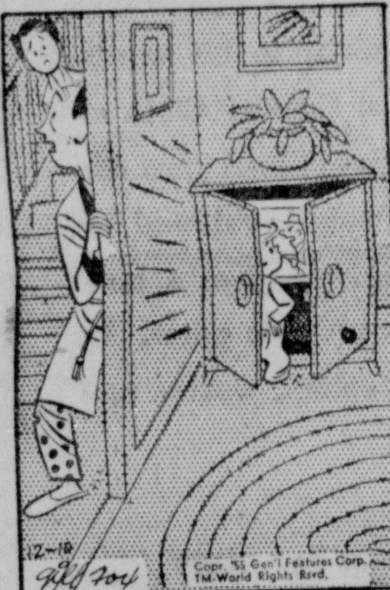

F. K. Alexander of the State Department of Education terms normal training a "dying program" and says the trend indicates "a realization of a need for better qualified teachers in rural schools."

The normal training has enabled students to obtain third grade elementary teaching certificates, the state's lowest teacher certificate.

Starting next Sept. 1 the third grade certificate will be issued only upon completion of two years of high school teacher training and 12 hours of college work, instead of just one or the other. Effective Sept. 1, 1958, the third grade elementary certificate will be discontinued.

The 38 high schools still offering normal training are Adams, Ainsworth, Atkinson, Wheeler County, Rock County, Belgrade, Burwell, Butte, Clarkson, Clearwater, Genoa, Sioux County, Hayes County, Leigh, Litchfield, Lynch, Mason City, Merna, Neligh, Newcastle, North Bend, O'Neill, Pierce, Plainview, Ravenna, St. Edward, St. Paul, Schuyler, Spalding, Keya Paha County, Stanton, Sterling, Stuart, Superior, Loup County, Thomas County, West Point and Wood River.

Official Who Held News Quits Post

Defense 'Security' Planner Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP)—R. Karl Honaman, who laid down a partial blackout of news at the Pentagon, resigned Friday as deputy assistant secretary of defense.

The security-minded Honaman got a pat on the back from Secretary of Defense Wilson on his departure. Wilson wrote him:

"While perhaps some aspects of your work may have been misunderstood, I am sure that it will result in a real and lasting benefit to our national security."

Honaman and other defense officials steadily maintained that restrictions he laid down from his policy post involved nothing but technical military secrets whose release could hurt the United States.

Reporters Differed
Reporters covering the Pentagon and newsmen's organizations contended that the curtain had been lowered on other information which should not be kept secret. Honaman officially joined the defense Department last April, coming from a similar job at the Commerce Department, but had been active with Pentagon matters for some time before then.

Last March, Secretary Wilson issued an order—it was widely believed among Pentagon reporters that Honaman originated it—which said information given out by the department should make a "constructive contribution" to the department. It had the effect, which has since somewhat lessened, of choking off much information normally available.

Operating under that and similar orders, Honaman said the principal concern was to restrict the publication of technical information which "will help the enemy more than it will help us." He said that while defense news should meet the requirements of usefulness, value and interest, he had "no notion of being either an arbiter or censor."

"There are," he also said, "many cases where demands for information which take up the time of people with busy schedules do not truly meet the requirement of being useful or valuable, nor yet very interesting to the public." When that statement came under criticism, Robert T. Ross, Honaman's boss, explained that it "referred to the interdepartmental preparation and coordination of public information material originated by the Department of Defense."

Stock Mart Falls Into Irregular Rut

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite a late fry, the stock market never was able to pull itself out of an irregular rut Friday.

Prices were moving rather narrowly with the exception of a handful of widely swinging issues. Stocks, markets and futures were in demand, but the general tone was close and finished mixed. The rails were down and other major divisions were steady to mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 10 cents at 121.80, the second high mark established since Sept. 23 and again last Monday and Tuesday. The average for 30 stocks rose 10 cents.

The industrial component was unchanged while the rail 40 stocks and utilities were down 10 cents.

Volume amounted to 2,660,000 shares as compared with 2,970,000 traded Thursday. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed on volume of 1,230,000 shares against 960,000 Thursday.

Knowland Believes Ike Decision To Be Announced Next Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) said Friday he believes President Eisenhower will disclose by the middle of next month whether he will run for re-election.

This would advance the date of the President's announcement by six or seven weeks over previous indications.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall has held there was no need for the President to speak out before late February or early March.

Knowland refused to tell a news conference whether he himself will seek the GOP presidential nomination until Eisenhower "has the opportunity to make a decision which I believe will be made during the month of January."

Should Be Clear

He recalled he had said after his meeting with the President that the Eisenhower decision should be made clear "in mid-January" before the end of filings for state primaries.

The logic of events, he said, will "require a statement at that time" by the President.

In referring to his talk with the President, Knowland said: "I wouldn't want to mislead you by saying that the question of 1956 didn't enter the discussion."

Knowland made his prediction prior to addressing a dinner of the National Assn. of Manufacturers. He said in his speech the United States has retreated from principle in "acquiescing" to the United Nations "package deal" to admit five Communist satellites to membership in return for admission of 13 "free world" countries.

He also told the association times were too serious to permit "waltzing around" on fundamental issues by presidential candidates.

Knowland was reported Thursday as intending to announce his own candidacy for the Republican nomination unless Eisenhower made clear by Feb. 1 that he would seek a second term.

These reports said Knowland was ready to support Eisenhower in a bid for re-election, but that he believed possible candidates should not be immobilized by a long wait for the President's decision.

Well Written

Asked about the reports at his news conference, Knowland smiled and said he knew of "two well-written speculative stories."

To a question where he would stand if the President seeks re-election, the senator said he would assume the ticket would be the same as in 1952 and, in that event, he would support it.

Eisenhower's running mate three years ago was Vice President Richard M. Nixon of California.

"If the President runs, the President can be elected over any of the Democratic candidates that have been mentioned today," Knowland said.
